things fall apart tells two overlapping intertwining stories both of which center around okonkwo a strong man of an ibo village in nigeria the first of these stories traces okonkwo s fall from grace with the tribal world in which he lives and in its classical purity of line and economical beauty it provides us with a powerful fable about the immemorial conflict between the individual and society the second story which is as modern as the first is ancient and which elevates the book to a tragic plane concerns the clash of cultures and the destruction of okonkwo s world through the arrival of aggressive proselytizing european missionaries these twin dramas are perfectly harmonized and they are modulated by an awareness capable of encompassing at once the life of nature human history and the mysterious compulsions of the soul things fall apart is the most illuminating and permanent monument we have to the modern african experience as seen from within outline of a theory of practice is recognized as a major theoretical text on the foundations of anthropology and sociology pierre bourdieu a distinguished french anthropologist develops a theory of practice which is simultaneously a critique of the methods and postures of social science and a general account of how human action should be understood with his central concept of the habitus the principle which negotiates between objective structures and practices bourdieu is able to transcend the dichotomies which have shaped theoretical thinking about the social world the author draws on his fieldwork in kabylia algeria to illustrate his theoretical propositions with detailed study of matrimonial strategies and the role of rite and myth he analyses the dialectical process of the incorporation of structures and the objectification of habitus whereby social formations tend to reproduce themselves a rigorous consistent materialist approach lays the foundations for a theory of symbolic capital and through analysis of the different modes of domination a theory of symbolic power my father s family name being pirrip and my christian name philip my infant tongue could make of both names nothing longer or more explicit than pip so i called myself pip and came to be called pip i give pirrip as my father s family name on the authority of his tombstone and my sister mrs joe gargery who married the blacksmith as i never saw my father or my mother and never saw any likeness of either of them for their days were long before the days of photographs my first fancies regarding what they were like were unreasonably derived from their tombstones the shape of the letters on my father s gave me an odd idea that he was a square stout dark man with curly black hair from the character and turn of the inscription also georgiana wife of the above i drew a childish conclusion that my mother was freckled and sickly to five little stone lozenges each about a foot and a half long which were arranged in a neat row beside their grave and were sacred to the memory of five little brothers of mine who gave up trying to get a living exceedingly early in that universal struggle i am indebted for a belief i religiously entertained that they had all been born on their backs with their hands in their trousers pockets and had never taken them out in this state of existence
