this book shows that the publishers and editors of the radical press deployed romantic era texts for their own political ends and for their largely working class readership long after those works original publication it examines how the literature of the british romantic period was excerpted and reprinted in radical political papers in britain in the nineteenth century the agents of this story were bound by neither the chronological march of literary history nor by the original form of the literary texts they reprinted godwin s caleb williams and poems by wordsworth southey coleridge and shelley appear throughout this book as they appeared in the nineteenth century in bits and pieces radical publishers and editors carefully and purposefully excerpted the works of their recent past excavating useful political claims from the midst of less amenable texts and remaking texts and authors alike in the process this volume represents the efforts of fifteen scholars from europe and north america to work through the complex and sometimes compromising past and the current struggles that together define eastern german identity society and politics ten years after unification their papers offer an exemplary illustration of the variety of disciplinary methods and new source materials on which established and younger scholars can draw today to further differentiated understanding of the old gdr and the young länder in a volume that will interest students of german history cultural studies and comparative politics the authors show how utopian ideals quickly degenerated into a dictatorship that provoked the everyday resistance at all levels of society that ultimately brought the regime to its demise they also suggest how the gdr might live on in memory to shape the emerging varieties of postcommunist politics in the young states of the federal republic and how the gdr experience might inspire new practices and concepts for german society as a whole most importantly the papers here testify to the multidisciplinary vitality of a field whose original object of enquiry disappeared over a decade ago
