An Introduction to Pascal and Precalculus 1986 the seventh international visual field symposium organized by the international perimetric society was held in amsterdam the netherlands september 6 10 1986 in many respects it was an exciting and fruitful meeting the number of participants was greater than ever the number of papers was too great to accommodate all of them the quality of the papers reflects the continuously rising interest in perimetry in general and in automated perimetry in particular last but not least the social programme was organized in the by now almost classical friendly enjoyable and humouristic style of the international perimetric society this created an atmosphere of openness and free exchange of information which was clearly also felt in the scientific sessions the scientific part was divided in seven sessions with 44 spoken papers and a separate postersession during which the 46 posters were discussed the major themes of the meeting were the influence of media disturbances on the visual field and advances in perimetry in glaucoma with special emphasis on progression the session on media provided interesting information on how the visual field was effected by preretinal filters the authors either studied the influence of lens or corneal opacities or simulated opacities by special filters placed in front of the eye in two papers the effect of cataract was qualified by photography or stray light measurements

Aviation Week & Space Technology 1980 abstract this paper presents an efficient parallel multigrid solver for speeding up the computation of a 3 d model that treats the flow of a viscous fluid over a flat plate the main interest of this simulation lies in exhibiting some basic difficulties that prevent optimal multigrid efficiencies from being achieved as the computing platform we have used coral a beowulf class system based on intel pentium processors and equipped with giganet clan and switched fast ethernet networks our study not only examines the scalability of the solver but also includes a performance evaluation of coral where the investigated solver has been used to compare several of its design choices namely the interconnection network giganet versus switched fast ethernet and the node configuration dual nodes versus single nodes as a reference the performance results have been compared with those obtained with the nas mg benchmark
