in the spectacle of illusion professional magician turned experimental psychologist dr matthew I tompkins investigates the arts of deception as practised and popularised by mesmerists magicians and psychics since the early 18th century organised thematically within a broadly chronological trajectory this compelling book explores how illusions perpetuated by magicians and fraudulent mystics can not only deceive our senses but also teach us about the inner workings of our minds indeed modern scientists are increasingly turning to magic tricks to develop new techniques to examine human perception memory and belief beginning by discussing mesmerism and spiritualism the book moves on to consider how professional magicians such as john nevil maskelyne and harry houdini engaged with these movements particularly how they set out to challenge and debunk paranormal claims it also relates the interactions between magicians mystics and scientists over the past 200 years hiding the elephant how magicians invented the impossible and learned to disappear magicians were tortured and killed during the age of witchcraft you are told how conjuring tricks were used to quell rebellious colonial natives the history of magic is full of such stories which turn out not to be true behind the smoke and mirrors however lies the real story of magic it is a history of people from humble roots who made and lost fortunes and who deceived kings and queens in order to survive they concealed many secrets yet they revealed some and they stole others they engaged in deception exposure and betrayal in a quest to make the impossible happen they managed to survive in a world in which a series of technological wonders appeared which previous generations would have considered magical even today when we now take the most sophisticated technology for granted we can still be astonished by tricks that were performed hundreds of years ago the secret history of magic reveals how this was done it is about why magic matters in a world that no longer seems to have a place for it but which desperately needs a sense of wonder
