notions of home are of increasing concern to persons who are interested in the unfolding narratives of inhabitation displacement and dislocation and exile home is viewed as a multidimensional theoretical concept that can have contradictory meanings homes may be understood as spaces as well as places and be associated with feelings practices and active states of being and moving in the world in this book we offer a window into the distinct ways that home is theorized and conceptualized across disciplines the essays in this volume pose and answer the following critical and communicative questions about home 1 how do people speak and story home in their everyday lives and why 2 why and how is home as a material presence as a sense and feeling or as an absence central to our notion of who we are or who we want to become as individuals and in relation to others 3 what is the theoretical purchase in making home as a unit of analysis in our fields of study this collection engages home from diverse contexts and disparate philosophical underpinnings at the same time the essays converse with each other by centering their foci on the relationship between home place identity and exile home how we experience it and what it that says about the selves we come to occupy is an exigent question of our contemporary moment place identity exile storying home spaces delivers timely and critical perspectives on these important questions

most homes in the past were not elite wealthy interiors complete with high fashion furnishings designed by well known architects and designers as many domestic histories often seem to have assumed as this book makes clear there were in fact an enormous variety of house interiors in england during the period 1750 1850 reflecting the location status and gender of particular householders as well as their changing attitudes tastes and aspirations by focusing on non metropolitan homes which represented the majority of households in england this study highlights the need for historians to look beyond prevailing attitudes that often reduce interiors to generic descriptions based on high fashions of the decorative arts instead it shows how numerous social and cultural influences affected the manner in which homes were furnished and decorated issues such as the availability of goods gender regional taste income the second hand market changing notions of privacy and household hierarchies and print culture could all have a significant impact on domestic furnishing the study ends with a discussion of how domestic interiors of historic properties have been presented and displayed in modern times highlighting how competing notions of the past can cloud as well as illuminate the issue combining cultural history and qualitative analysis of evidence this book presents a new way of looking at ordinary and provincial homes that enriches our understanding of english domestic life of the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries

City Farmhouse Style 2017-09-12

in urban studies the nineteenth century is the age of great cities in feminist studies it is the era of the separate domestic sphere but what of the city s homes in the course of answering this question apartment stories provides a singular and radically new framework for understanding the urban and the domestic turning to an element of the cityscape that is thoroughly familiar yet frequently overlooked sharon marcus argues that the apartment house embodied the intersections of city and home public and private and masculine and feminine spheres moving deftly from novels to architectural treatises legal debates and popular urban observation marcus compares the representation of the apartment house in paris and london along the way she excavates the urban ghost tales that encoded londoners ambivalence about city dwellings contends that haussmannization enclosed paris in a new regime of privacy and locates a female counterpart to the flâneur and the omniscient realist narrator the portière who supervised the apartment building
